The American Society of Indian Engineers (ASIE) was established in 1994 and its membership demographics include technical professionals of Indian origin in engineering, architecture, the sciences, construction, and information technology. Our focus is on professional development and we aspire to position the Indian technical professional community to be a force to reckon with. ASIE provides a forum for leadership development, interaction with governmental agencies, interaction with successful entrepreneurs, career enhancement and networking. Members benefit from the transfer of knowledge and experience from the current generation to the dynamic future generation. ASIE and its sponsors provide scholarships, mentoring, career planning, and employment assistance to students and young professionals. ASIE is a unified organization for Indian technical professionals and is dedicated to providing a platform to assist Indian technical professionals in career advancement, business development and voicing their opinions to impact public policy.
